

DVD Review
OutSmart Magazine

Sonic Bloom

Larry Douglas Embury

A consummate musical entertainer and performer, Larry Douglas Embury has stepped out of his typical element and into the realm of surround sound and accompanying visual effects on this DVD. Developed by Marsall Yaeger, the Kaleidoplex technology creates what he calls “moving mandalas” that sync up with the music and create patterns on the screen that move along precisely with the tempo of the music, slowing down and speeding up as the music dictates. Embury’s piano and organ soundtrack sounds like some sort of otherworldly emporium jukebox, and though the entire thing moves a bit slower than one might initially think, you get pulled into it after a while and everything brings you to the screen just as the creators had planned. From SeeMusicDVD (www.seemusicdvd.com). —LW